QCF Qualification	Qualification levels and definition	Progression routes
This qualification aims to provide the learner with the knowledge, skills and understanding to safely and effectively provide basic treatment to one or more species of animal.	This qualification is available at Level 2. This is the level at which industry recognises learners as having achieved the competence to carry out their role with agricultural livestock or in animal care.	Learners can progress on to the Level 3 Award in the Planning and Supervising the Safe use of Veterinary Medicines or further livestock or animal care programmes.

	Key Features	Key Benefits
Structure	The qualification has one unit. This unit includes health and safety, legislation relating to the use of veterinary medicines, signs of health and ill health in various species, safe and correct procedures for administering veterinary medicines and the procedures for monitoring the animal's response and the actions taken in the case of an emergency.	The qualification has been specifically designed to meet the diverse needs of learners and employers. The qualification is endorsed in the context of the species the learner was assessed in.
Assessment	The assessment has two parts. Knowledge is assessed by an online computer test (evolve). Practical knowledge is assessed with a one to one practical assessment to cover the practices involved with storing and administering veterinary medicines.	Assessment can be carried out at a time to suit the learner or employer. A one to one approach for the practical assessment ensures that the assessment process is rigorous and a full evaluation of the candidate's competence can be determined.
Support	Resources include an Assessment Schedule produced in collaboration with industry experts.	Easy to read Assessment Schedule providing detailed information for learners to download.
